(1) HAIL TO DEAR ST. VINCENT

// Oh, it's St. Vincent, //
The pride of every Akronite,
Come on you old grads,
Join with us young lads,
It's great St. Vincent, now we cheer.
Now is the time, boys,
To make a big noise,
No matter what the others say,
For there is naught to fear,
The Gang's all here - -
So hail to dear St. Vincent, HAIL!

(2) RAH FOR THE GREEN AND WHITE

St. V. inspired our early days
With high and holy aim
The slum'ring fires of pure desire
Awake to living flame.
We bow to thee, O St. V. High,
Our Alma Mater true,
Rah for the Green and White.

(3) ON TO VICTORY

On to Victory, the Green and White
Shall win today. We will cheer our best
Our team is ready for the fray,
When we've won the game.
Thru-out the town we'll spread our fame
And with all our might, our Green & White
Will fight, fight, fight.

(4) WITH ST. V-I-N-C-E-N-T

It's great St. Vincent, now we cheer.
St. Vincent, St. Vincent
Glory of West Hill,
Of all the schools from East to West
You're easily the best.
St. Vincent, St. Vincent
Where friends are always true
St. V-I-N-C-E-N-T
St. Vincent, HAIL TO YOU!

(5) STAND UP AND CHEER

Stand up and cheer, Cheer long and loud
For dear old St. V; for today we raise
The Green and White above the others
Our sturdy team now is fighting
And we are sure to win the fray.
We've got the vim, We're sure to win
For this is dear old St. V's day.

On to Victory, the Green and White
Shall win today. We will cheer our best
Our team is ready for the fray,
When we've won the game.
Thru-out the town we'll spread our fame
And with all our might, our Green & White
Will fight, fight, fight.
Come on you old grads,
Join with us young lads,
It's great St. Vincent, now we cheer.

(6) WE'RE OUT TO WIN

Hear the echo prolong
While we're singing our song:
"// We're out to win!// today."
See them shiver and shake!
See them quiver and quake!
// We're out to win!// today!

Chorus:

We're out to win!
No matter what's before us.
We're out to win!
O hear the mighty chorus!
We're out to win!
The signs are right to day!
O see our grim determination as we way,
"We're out to win!"
We're out to win!
No matter what's before us.
We're out to win,
O hear the mighty chorus!
We're out to win!
The signs are right today!
// We're out to WIN!//

-2-

See the look in our eye:
Hear the chorus we cry:
// We're out to win!// today.
Sing it over again!
All together again!
// We're out to win!// today.

Chorus:

echo prolong
While we're singing our song:
(7) FIGHT! FIGHT! FIGHT!

See them shiver and shake!
Fight for victory and honor,
Fight for dear old Alma Mater,
Fight with all your might and power
To win another game today.
We'll cheer to help you fight the battle
Giving ev'rything we have---
So fight for victory and honor
For our school to day.

(8) FLYING COLORS

We're here to cheer and to fight for our team, what's before us.
Hail to our varsity for spirit and valour;
You'll see the banners unfurl
O'er our stands to reveal
Colors of victory flying high for you.

(9) FOLLOW THROUGH

See the look in our eye:
Right thru their tackles and guards
// our team will tear // today.
See how our line holds when they attack
Rah! Rah! Rah! Down, down the field
// we can see our goal is near Soon we will score a touch down for our school.

While we're singing our song:
(7) FIGHT! FIGHT! FIGHT!

'Atop a Hill in Akron'

There's a school on a hill
Of which proudly we feel,
For she stands there resisting
all foes;

And tho' you may inquire,
Not a man you could hire
To betray her, as everyone knows.

She's the best loved of all,
Be it springtime or fall,
And we've all promised faithful and true

To uphold her fair name,
To spread word of her fame,
Loyal sons and daughters all.

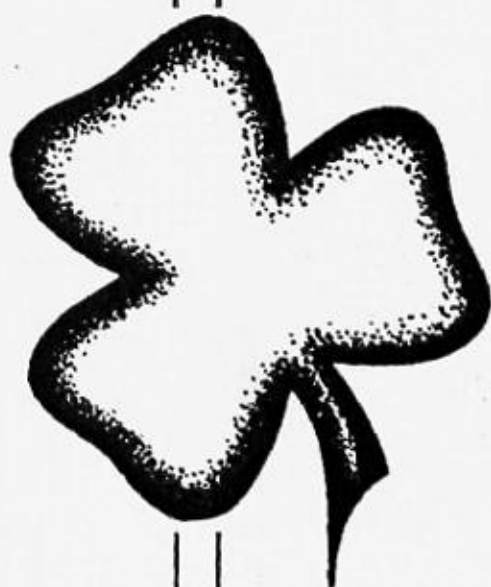

Chorus:

Atop a hill in Akron
Proudly waves the green and white.
Saint V's banner shouts her glory;
You can see it from the height.
Ideals of highest mettle,
Spirit grand and sound and true,
And we praise our Alma Mater
Sure she's finest of all schools.

MOST REVEREND EDWARD F. HOBAN, S.T.D., LL.D.
Bishop of Cleveland
Chairman, Diocesan Board of Education

Dedication

We, Saint Vincent's Senior Class of 1947, are dedicating not only this book, but also the earnest efforts which have gone into its compilation, to our most beloved Bishop who is this year celebrating his Silver Jubilee. We hope that in some small measure we have been able to reflect his wise guidance and high ideals. We sincerely pray that Bishop Hoban, who assumed his duties as spiritual shepherd of the Cleveland diocese four years ago, will continue to be blessed by Almighty God with good health and success in the fulfillment of his holy office.

In his private chapel

In Memoriam

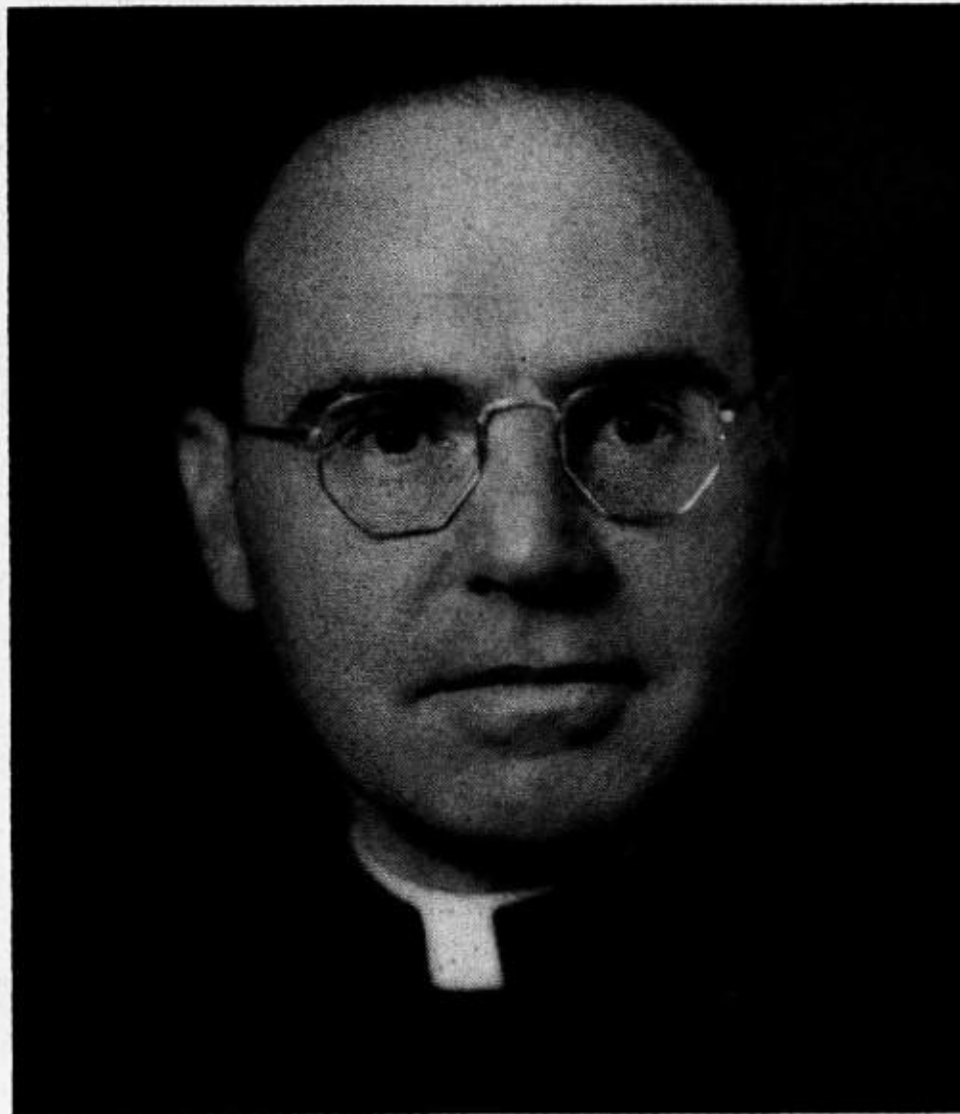

BISHOP JOHN R. HAGAN
Requiescat in Pace

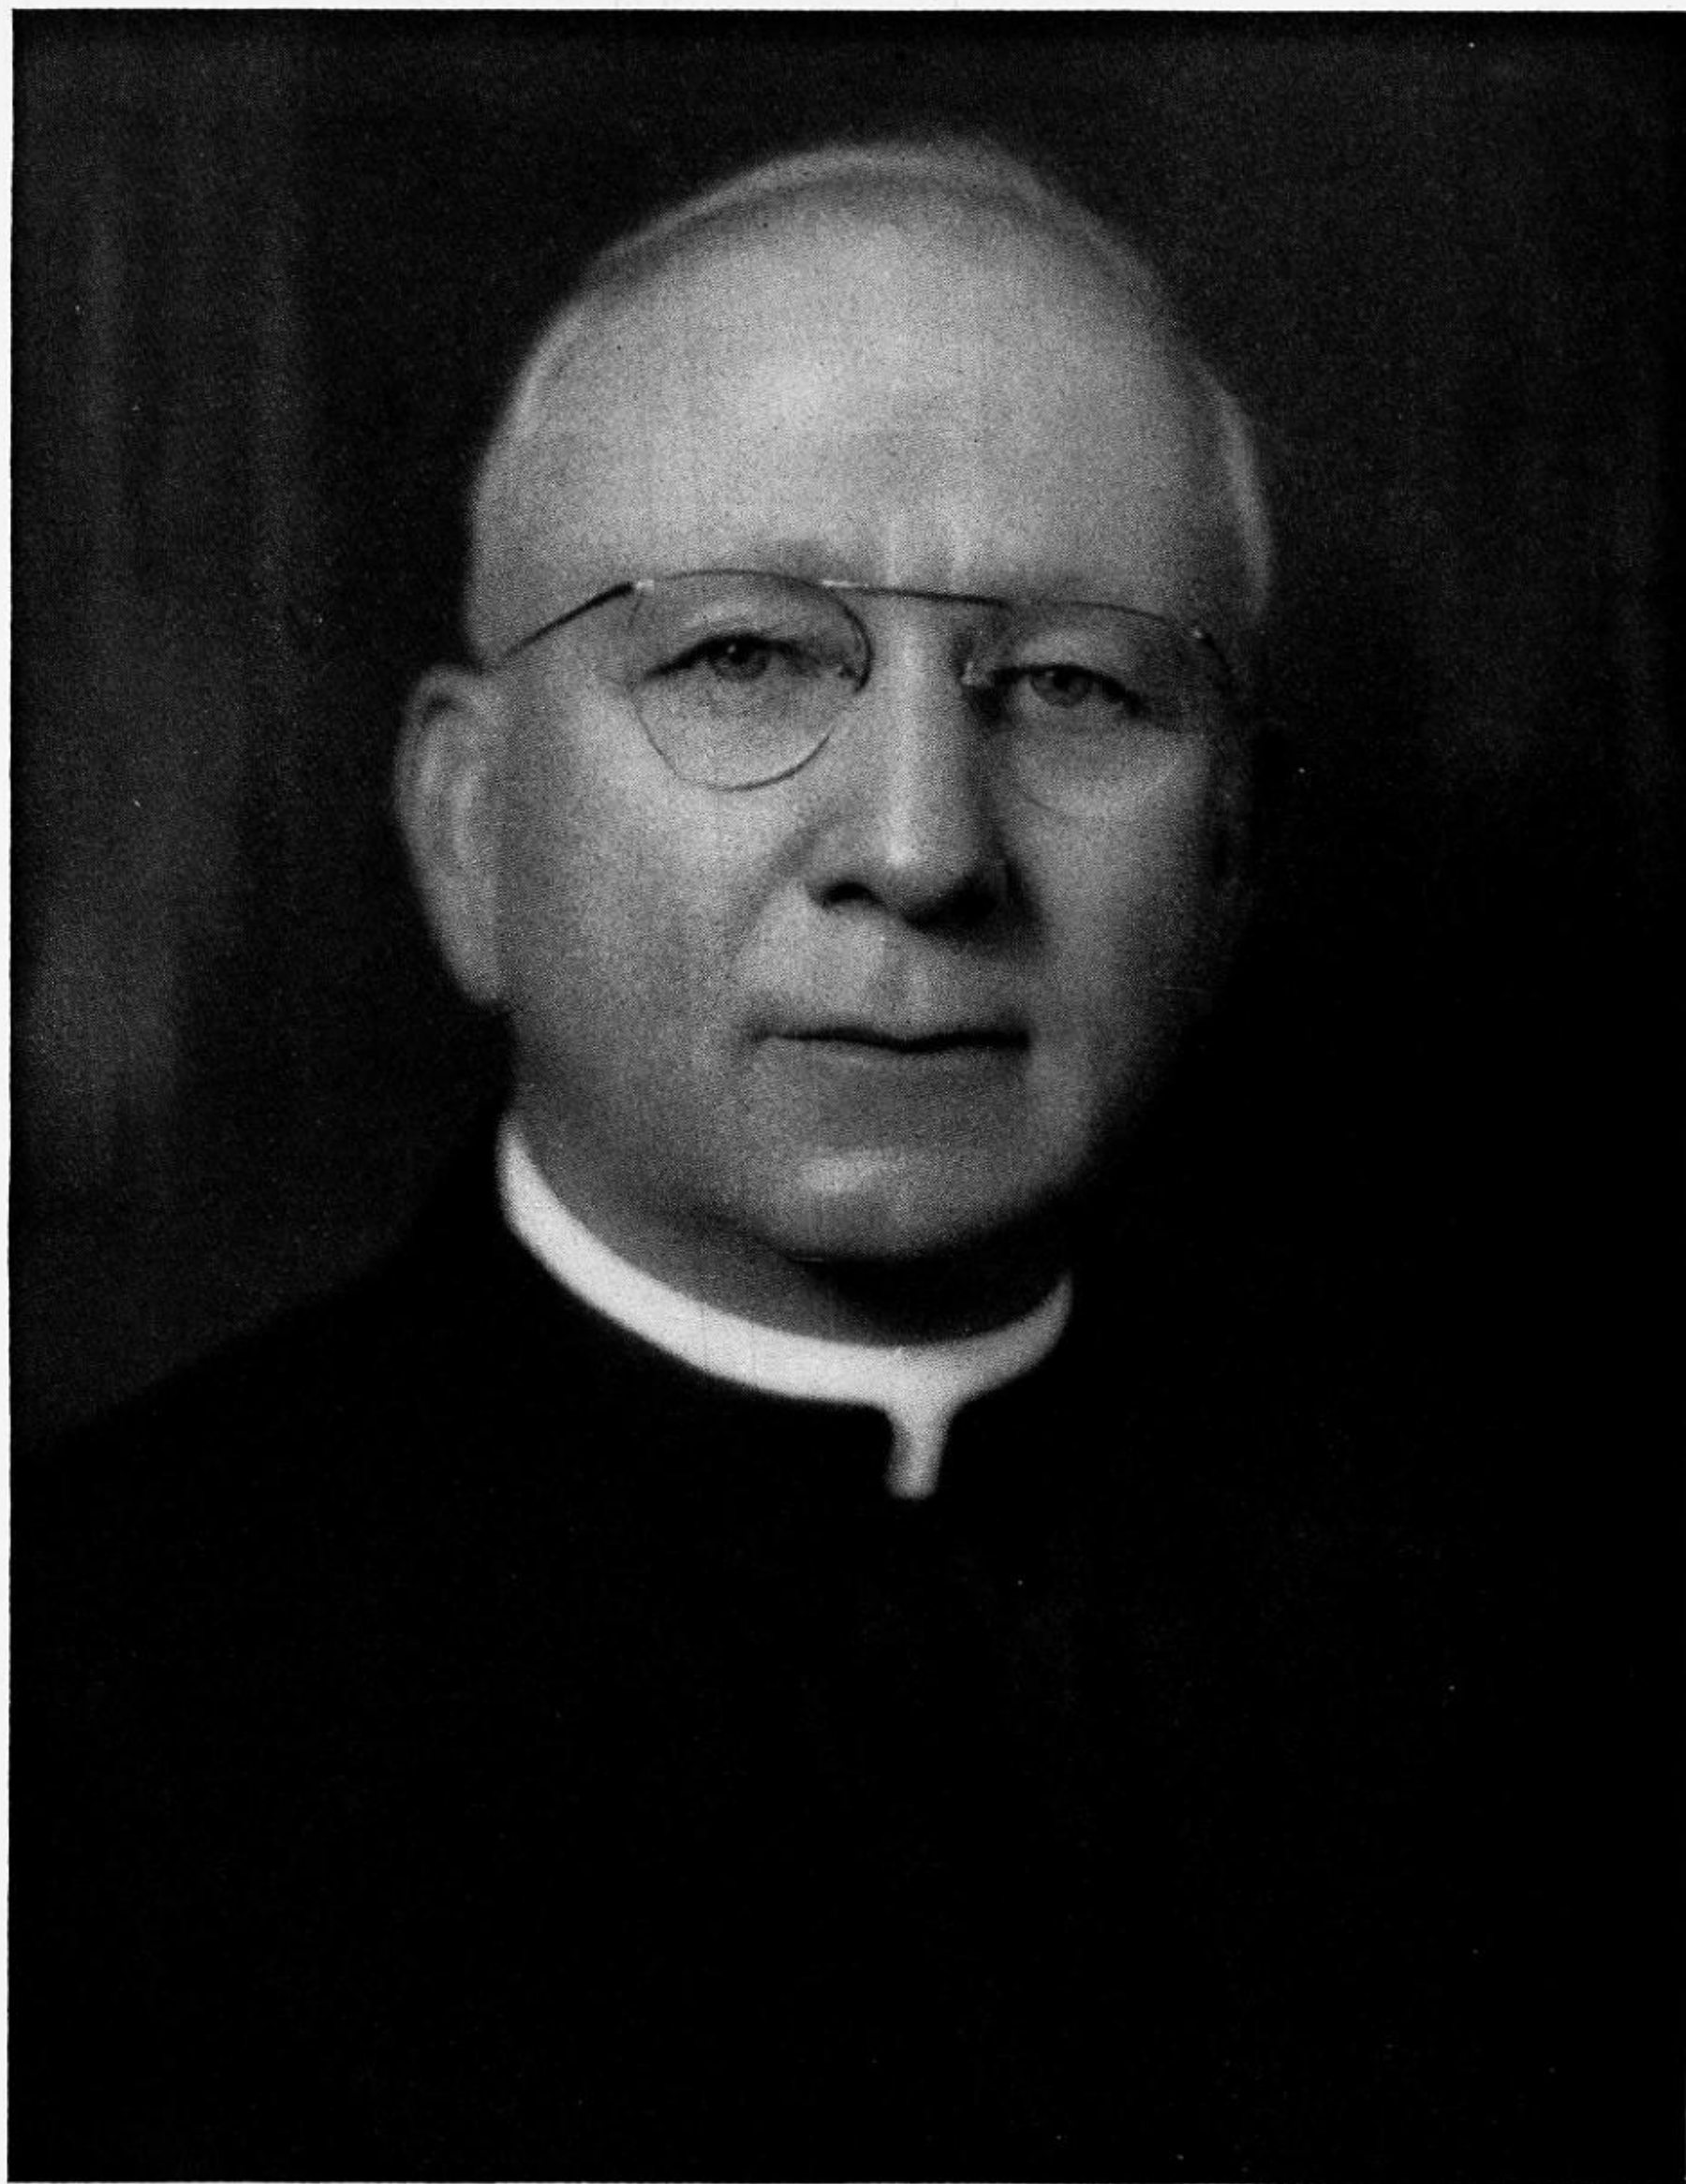

The brilliant career of Bishop John R. Hagan, who was a true friend and guide to all students, came to an end on September 28, 1946. Only three months before his death, as a reward for his work as superintendent of schools in the Diocese of Cleveland, he had been elevated to the dignity of the episcopate. Our memories recall his many friendly visits to our school and his keen interest in our activities, while our hearts harbor gratitude for his unselfish sacrifices.

Administration

"What greater work is there than training the mind and forming the habits of the young?" These words of Saint John Chrysostom fittingly typify the ideal of Catholic education in the Diocese of Cleveland as exemplified in the work of Dr. Clarence Elwell, Ph.D., superintendent of our diocesan school system; Father Edward B. Conry, pastor of Saint Vincent Church; Sister M. Bernice, O. P., our principal, and the other Sisters of Saint Dominic, our faculty. To these administrators and teachers, we owe our most valuable asset for a successful life—our Catholic education. The result of their training is healthy minds and characters fashioned according to the basic principles of the Christian order. They have been tireless workers whose real achievement cannot be estimated. The powerful moral influence of a real educator can be fully evaluated only in Eternity. May our future efforts to live their lessons of virtue be a source of joy to them and part of that great reward promised to those who instruct others to justice.

CLASSROOM ACTIVITIES

We Live Our Faith

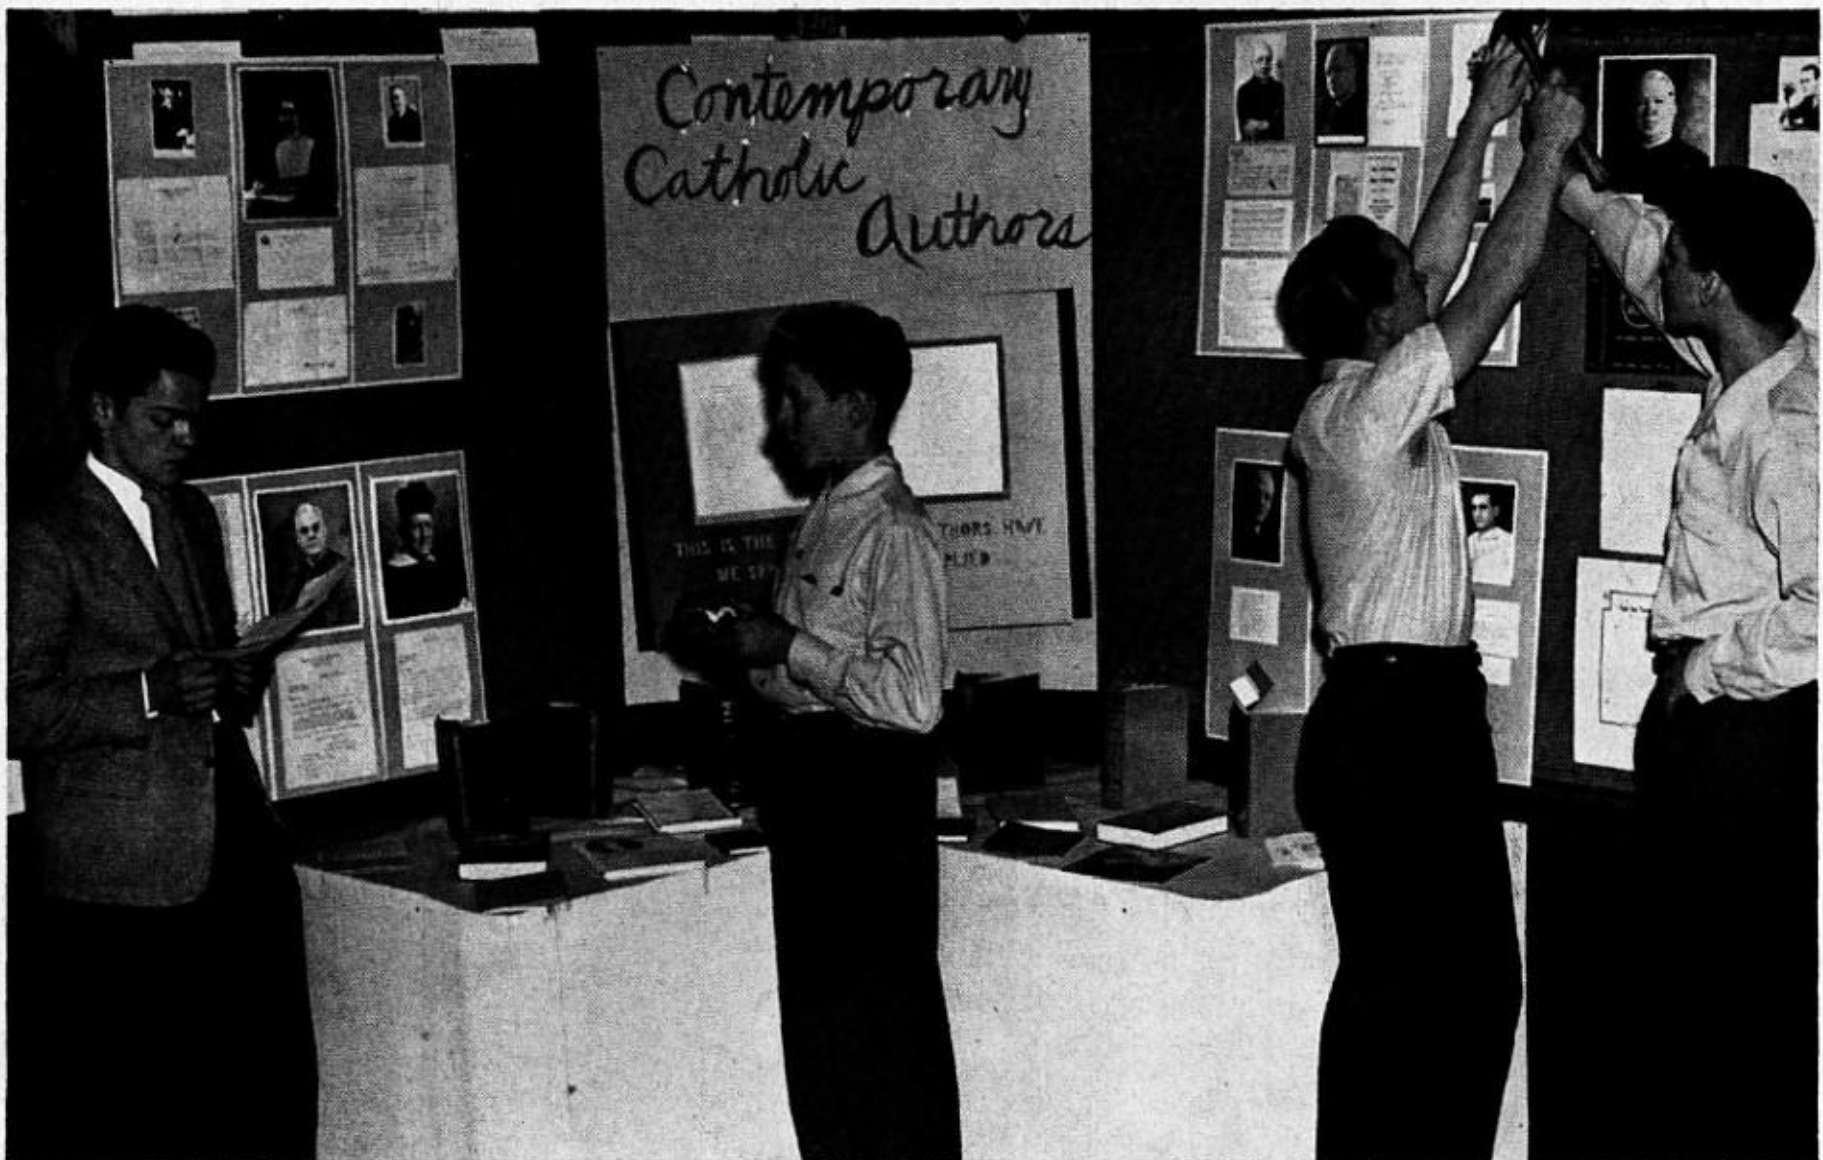

"Why Catholic schools?" is a common question from the world. It is a simple one to answer. In grade school, we learned that "God made us to know Him; to love Him; to serve Him in this world; and to be happy with Him forever in the next." If this be true, we must necessarily have an opportunity to learn to know Him, in order to love and serve Him. Therefore, all-wise Holy Mother Church insists that Catholic boys and girls be educated in a manner that will enable them to look forward to "being happy with Him forever in the next."

"What is a philosophy of education?" is another common question. That, too, is a simple one to answer. Our schools teach religion as a way of life; not as a group of isolated doctrines reserved for Sunday sermons. Success in terminating the quest for happiness requires a lifetime of traveling rough roads. Our secular education is spiritualized as a means of advancement toward the Eternal Goal. Science opens new worlds of wonder and adds to the known splendor of creation; English develops our power of praising the Triune God; history beckons with examples of men and women who completed their quests in glory; mathematics give proof of the supreme order and infinitesimal preciseness of God's vast universe in contrast to our own feeble imitations of His design. Other classes strengthen the arm of knowledge which leads our steps along the road of life. In teaching us to serve God by helping others, our background of Catholic education makes us better citizens of our homes, our school, and our country as we endeavor to earn citizenship in Heaven.

Freshman girls scan the Weekly News Review during civics class. Dorothy Labbe leads the discussion which follows, while we suspect that Nancy Crane in the foreground is enjoying something in the joke column. Margaret Gersna and Dorothy McBride are deeply concerned with world problems. Considerable time is devoted to current civic affairs.

"World Culture" experimentally combines sophomore history and literature classes into one double session subject. The text book method of learning is exceeded in importance by a more modern teaching method—reports, research, discussion, and visual education. The teacher finds herself more often moderator than teacher as the students discuss topics they have unearthed in their research. This awakens more interest in the subject, and teaches pupils to depend on themselves rather than on someone else for what they learn. Another interesting feature of the course is frequent excursions in chartered buses.

Today Citizens of the Classroom

"Now the Peace," a film forum, sponsored by the N.H.S. in collaboration with Catholic and National Education Week depicted the work of the League of Nations and the United Nations. That's Ed Wood as chairman. Emma Lins and Patricia Offret are prepared to stress the necessity of including Christ in plans for a lasting peace.

Tomorrow Citizens of the World

American Scene, a class still in the experimental stage, correlates the American History and Literature courses, to make a unified story with men and their writings taken in their proper historical plan. Historical events, charts, graphs, miniatures of famous buildings, and book reports are some of the projects brought in at the end of each six weeks' period. In this picture, Doris Gibson and Rosemary Guisinger are working to make characters in Rip Van Winkle, and Marilyn McGuigan is putting the finishing touches on a model of "Independence Hall."

Good Books Build Character

Did you ever wonder what went on behind the scenes in the library? Much has to be done to keep everything in order and up to date. The duties of the student library assistants vary. Every week new magazines must be checked and filed.

Where is that overdue book? Finding the culprit and retrieving the book is part of the job of the assistants. All this is necessary so that reading material will be available for those who want to build good character with good books.

Languages Promote World Harmony

The French and Spanish students are doing their part in working for a global world by acquainting America's future leaders with foreign culture. The pupils study customs, foods, and geography of the nations as well as languages.

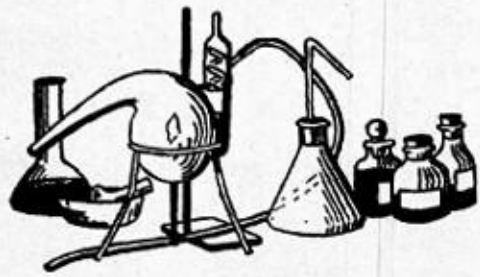

In one of his freshman Latin classes, Father Cosgrove explains the mysteries of the first conjugation, present passive, to Robert Adams, while the class listens attentively.

Tomorrow's Masters Of Science

Intricacies Of Creation

Saint Albert the Great, Patron of Sciences, once said that the aim of science is to investigate the causes at work in nature. Our curious young students are experimenting with these secrets and are constantly attaining a clearer realization of the omnipotence of God their Creator.

Practice in letter writing, plays by Shakespeare, and rules of grammar are factors of the vital English classes all students attend. Lazy slang is expelled and correct usage introduced as we learn to convey our thoughts in clear conciseness. To understand, appreciate, and enjoy the works of masters of speech, prose, and poetry, and to develop our own potential talents in creative writing constitute our aims.

We are 'Faithful in Little Things . . .'

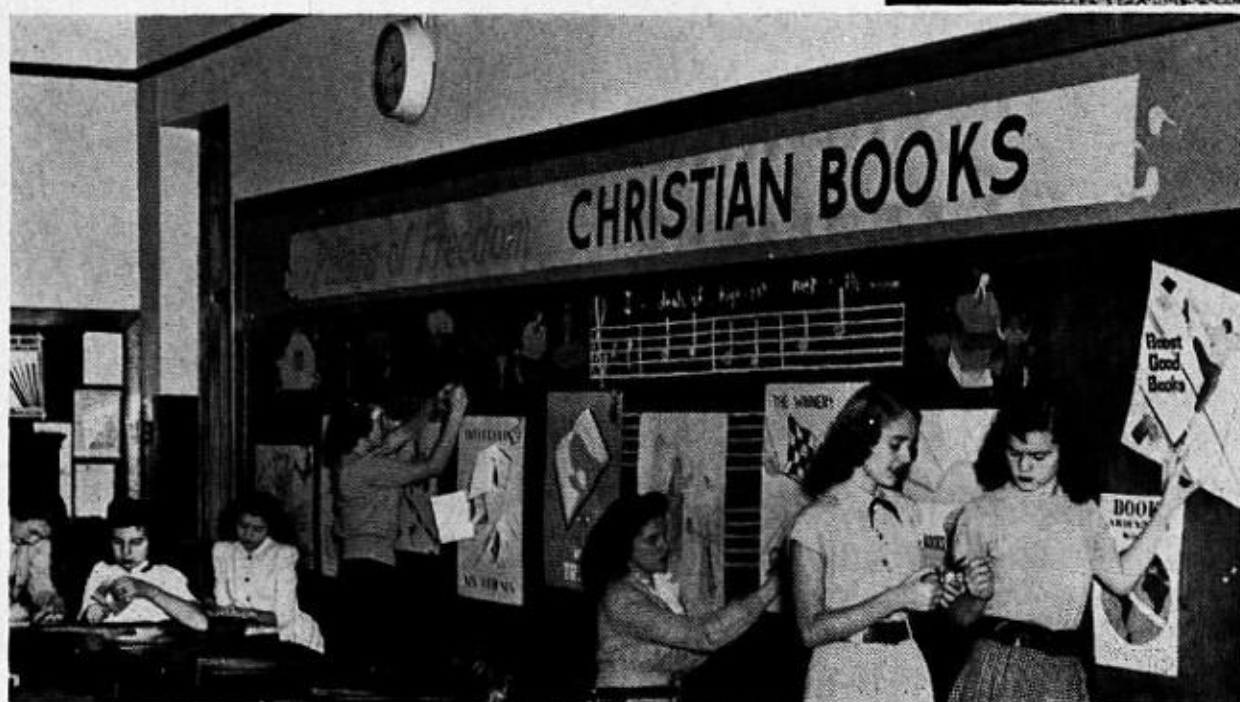

Behind the scenes of school activity, submerged by the daily buzz of everyday life, there are a hundred routine, thankless tasks that are accomplished unheralded. Senior girls answer the telephone and carry messages during study periods; senior boys repair and paint; junior boys haul cases of chocolate milk up the stairs before lunch; freshman boys sweep the auditorium after lunch hour; scores of boys volunteer when it comes to moving chairs out of the auditorium to clear the floor for dances. James Fahey, Jerry Fargo, and Pat Masturzo constitute the crew in charge of visual education machines. To all of them is given this tribute for conscientious service. We see Jeannine Herring as understudy in grade two, Joanne McGinnis checking a schedule, and the junior girls decorating the study hall for book week. Edward Hetzel hoists the flag as school begins, and Jerry Fargo operates the movie projector. Business students mimeograph patron fee letters while Lena Valeri, James Gillen, and Patricia Jones prepare for science classes.

Whether we prefer to hum a catchy refrain, to "parlez francais," or to relax with a book, one of the wreath of clubs enriching student life at Saint Vincent is sure to correspond with our interests. The kaleidoscope of social activities offers opportunities for exercising classroom skills by cultivation of a more intimate understanding of neighbors in other countries, and by an appreciation of music, literature, and the sciences. Business meetings, dances, programs, and discussions blend pleasantly in an atmosphere generating co-operation, friendship, knowledge, and fun. Soft strains of "Ave Maria" or the staccato rhythm of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" indicate the Glee Club or the Te Deum Choir preparing a musical program for the student body. The Pan American Club strengthens the missionary spirit and Le Cercle Francais invites speakers who can further our knowledge of France. Future Homemakers of America (FHA) prepares misses to be Mrs; the Order of Business Efficiency (OBE) introduces commercial students to business environments; Chem-Phy members study the rubber chemistry of Akron. Singing Quill members enjoy writing their own poetry, and the new Library Reading Club champions literature through book fairs, posters, and plays. The clubs unite in strengthening the spirit of helpfulness which is the spirit of Saint Vincent School.

Good Music Gives Voice To Our Praise

When strains of negro spirituals, modern melodies, old folk songs, and hymns are heard ringing through the halls, we all know that Saint V's Jeannette McDonalds and Nelson Eddys are putting forth their best efforts under the direction of Sister M. Raphael, O.P. Our weekly singing sessions have given the students an opportunity to become familiar with new songs, to enjoy old favorites, and to appreciate the musical talent of masters reproduced on the screen. But more than that, we enjoy learning to sing the Mass so that we may be united in prayer on First Friday and during our Retreat.

Stage Productions Add Variety To Our Social Calendar

Ben Coyle, student director, gives final instructions to the cast of characters of the all-student production "Who Murdered Who?" Standing are Bob Spalding, John Offret, and James Hamlin. Seated are Mary Ann Workman, Mary Ellen Delagrang, Barbara Doyle, Rosemary Gruver, and Mary Weibel. Jack Woods and Dave Wiolland are prop men.

The Drama Guild presented a murder mystery entitled "Who Murdered Who?" The plot revolved around a threatening note mysteriously received by Eric Trevor (Bob Spalding). An easily frightened maid (Rosemary Gruver), a mysterious intruder (Barbara Doyle), and a sophisticated visitor (Mary Ellen Delagrang) all add to the confusion. Meanwhile Trevor's fiancée Camilla Foreman, (Mary Weibel) and an inefficient detective, Willie Trippitt, (John Offret) try to help Trevor find the author of the note. Doctor Gravesend (Jim Hamlin) also arrives to examine a body that isn't there. All ends happily because nobody is murdered.

"H-e-l-l-o Mooseheart!" shouts the student body. At a cheer rally sponsored by the junior class, we are entertained by a comedy entitled "It's a Great Day for the Irish." Donna Richardson is a winsome Irish colleen, and the gallant smiling Irish gentleman is Tom Neff.

Christmas Pageant Gives Us Proper Holiday Spirit

Nancy McGuire is the Blessed Mother in the Nativity scene. The angels adoring the Infant are (standing) Mary Powell, Jean Stuhldreher, Mary Jane Ambriola, Margaret Myers, Patricia Geuss, Virginia McCulloch, Marian Herro, and (kneeling) Nan Wargo, Alta Fink, and Dorothy Hill. Below, Ben Coyle and Jim Gillen give a final check-up to their lines.

The second Drama Guild production "Fiat Lux" was presented as part of the Christmas program. Bob Spalding directed the performance and the Girls' Glee Club supplied musical background and interlude for the play and the Nativity Scene which was the Finale. The cast included Father Ambrose (Jim Gillen), a kindly priest who tries to restore lost faith in God to his friend Azariah (Ben Coyle). The return in spirit of Azariah's children, Nellie, his crippled daughter (Donna Richardson) and David, his soldier son (Frank Yukman) soften the embittered heart of Azariah and hasten his conversion. Properties were built by Dave Wiolland and his assistants.

Donna Richardson, Jim Gillen, and Frank Yukman look on prayerfully as Ben Coyle repents of his unfaithfulness to God.

Fiesta Lends Spanish Touch To American Dance

One of the colorful social events of the year is the Spanish Fiesta, presented by the Pan-American Club. At the Fiesta, guests dressed in Latin American costumes, refresh themselves with coke, popcorn, and ice cream supplied at the brilliantly decorated booths. The highlight of the evening is the breaking of the Mexican Pinata, a huge bag suspended from the ceiling, filled with sweets.

Students 'Refuel For The Next Hop'

It's time out between dances for these lads and lasses. They seem to be full of mischief, but maybe that's just because it's Hallowe'en night. Couples enjoyed the music of their favorite bands (Tommy Dorsey, Harry James, Vaughn Monroe) furnished through the courtesy of Nick O'Lodian. The turnout of both students and alumni surpassed the records of previous years.

PIGSKIN TREASURE

Co-Captain Sam Colando presents autographed football to Homecoming Queen Winnie McGrath while escort Joe Malloy provides handsome background for the event.

Gaiety And Solemnity Were Partners At Football Crowning

With a queen, a crown, two gold footballs and Roland Gamble's Orchestra, the annual "Pigskin Prom" ushered out another football season. An atmosphere of football was prevalent throughout the evening. In the alcove in the rear of the dance floor stood the royal throne. The Queen-elect, Miss Winnie McGrath, accompanied by her escort, Joe Malloy, was crowned by Charles Lenz and presented with an autographed football by Sam Colando. Attending the Queen was her court, Misses Barbara Doyle, Mary Weibel, and Patricia Gill. Father Osborne awarded miniature gold footballs to Jim Dunphy and Charles Lenz, the most valuable players.

The Brightly Dressed Dancers 'Drink In' the Yule Beauty

Above: Joe Murphy and Patricia Schultis.

Below: Bernard Dies, Jeanne Schultis, Mary Gerraghty, and Ed Gallagher.

A joyous Yuletide spirit predominates at our Christmas Formal. "White Christmas" is the theme as the merry-makers waltz in a "Winter Wonderland" of snow-laden pines dotted with miniature blue lights. Denny Thompson's Orchestra supplies the rhythm while the huge Christmas tree looks down in solemn approval upon the frolic from its majestic height. Freshman boys disguised as waiters in white jackets serve punch and cookies during intermissions.

Regal Adornment Gives Patrician Touch To Our Prom

With feelings of mingled joy and sadness, the Seniors attend the Prom at Saint Vincent. Sponsored by the Juniors, this dance marks the end of undergraduate life for departing students. Our Lady, Seat of Wisdom, the model of our school years, is an appropriate theme for the farewell dance. Ramona Kormanik, chosen by the junior class, crowned the Blessed Virgin, while the hymns "Mother Beloved" and "Queen of the May" were sung by the student body. Tony Laterza escorts Ramona.

THE SUNSET OF OUR SOCIAL CALENDAR

"What a tree!" "Where did they find it?" "How did they get it up?" These were just a few of the exclamations heard as the student body viewed the largest Christmas tree in the history of Saint V. The hardy woodsmen who chopped down twenty-four feet of evergreen were Bob McDermott, Pat Schultz, Joel Coulter, Leo Scalia, Ken Karg, and Art Cole. The students answered a plea for more ornaments.

Carols echoed through the halls before classes, while seniors added final touches to the tree. Counter-clockwise are John Philbin, Tom Moffitt, John Savoy, Winnie McGrath, John Devany, Jo Giaramita, Jim Fahey, Joanne Mollica, and Delores Horning.

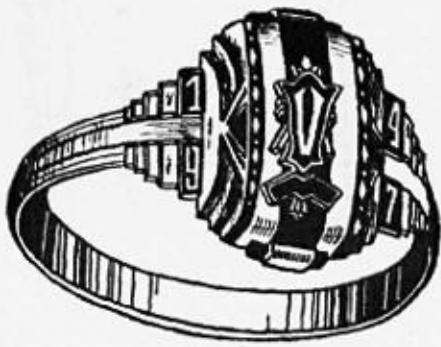

"When's the time that friends are known, loyalty and friendship shown?" On Shamrock Day, of course! A favorite day of all the lower classmen (and upper classmen too). Paper shamrocks are purchased from members of the National Honor Society who sponsor this "get acquainted" enterprise, and then the fun begins. Who can get the most autographs?

'Should auld acquaint- ance be forgot . . .'

Stopping for a coke and a name we find Jim Lynch, Mary Siebert, Kathleen Schmock, and Bob Mascola. Mary Savoy and Margaret Gersna along with Mary Lou Bard are wading through locker rooms to exchange signatures. Friendly "hello's" brought together three juniors, Shirley Jones, Bill Thorpe, and Joan Lauer on Friendship Day.

Seniors' Rings Symbolize Class Unity and School Loyalty

"Always let your ring remind you of the high ideals and standards you have learned here at Saint Vincent's." With these inspiring words, Father Conry presented the Seniors with their class rings. "The ring through all generations has come to mean a promise of fidelity. In marriage, the ring symbolizes the promise of marital fidelity. Sisters wear rings to symbolize their promise of fidelity to God. So, too, should your ring symbolize your fidelity to the high aims you made while here. . . . You must take the responsibility that the ring brings with it, for everyone will know from whence you come." Each senior glowed with justifiable pride for the ring seemed to mean, "Now I'm REALLY a senior!" The day was memorable, not only because it marked the first ring ceremony in the history of the school, but also because it was the first public performance of the "Alma Mater" our new school song.

The NHS Develops Character, Scholarship, Leadership, Service

"Light is the Symbol of Truth," is the motto of the National Honor Society. Character, scholarship, leadership, and service are its four cardinal objectives. Members of the society are outstanding not only in scholarship but also in other activities. During the past year, these have included "Friendship Day," a neighborly time for everyone, when all students are given a chance to get acquainted with newcomers; the flag contest, supported enthusiastically by the student body and won by Lawrence Marzulli, a junior, giving to the school our first emblem; the sale of Christmas seals for the Community Tuberculosis Fund, proving our interest in those less fortunate than we; and a film forum, "Now the Peace," the first of its kind presented at Saint Vincent's, stimulating us to think internationally rather than nationally. The emblem, a burning torch, is our inspiration.

Meet the staff of the 1947 Shamrock! These are the frantic seniors who relentlessly tracked down their assistants for overdue assignments; who canvassed the rubber city for patron fees to finance the Shamrock; who brought forth their most tactful speeches to convince the largest number of students that the best thing was what we really wanted; who polished up their sense of humor when a show of temper seemed so inviting; who burned midnight oil deciding on appropriate final touches for each page; who almost gave up—but not quite! The editors and the staff attended the N.S.P.A. convention in Milwaukee and returned with sparkling ideas and numerous “do’s” and “don’ts” on yearbook publication. Work (and we do mean work) was ready to start in earnest. We were further instructed in the correct manner of proceeding by Mr. George Strausser and Mr. Ray Carr, advisors, who answered our questions with utmost patience, tact, and understanding.

The Vincentian, student newspaper, informs each department of the school of the activities of others, acquaints the students with their school and classmates, and encourages future journalists. Issued monthly, the publication has kept its standards high, and was the first Akron area school paper to receive the All-American award of the National Press Association in 1944. Since then, each succeeding Vincentian Staff has attained this award. Besides this honor, the paper has all-Catholic and International Honorary ratings. "Of the students, by the students, for the students," the Vincentian stresses originality by printing cartoons, poems, and stories written by the students themselves. The staff finds journalism conventions, tours through newspaper buildings, and exchanging papers with other schools helpful in getting new ideas. Typing and journalism classes collaborate in getting material ready for the monthly publication.

Gridiron Exploits Enrich The Athletic Life Of The School

Coached by

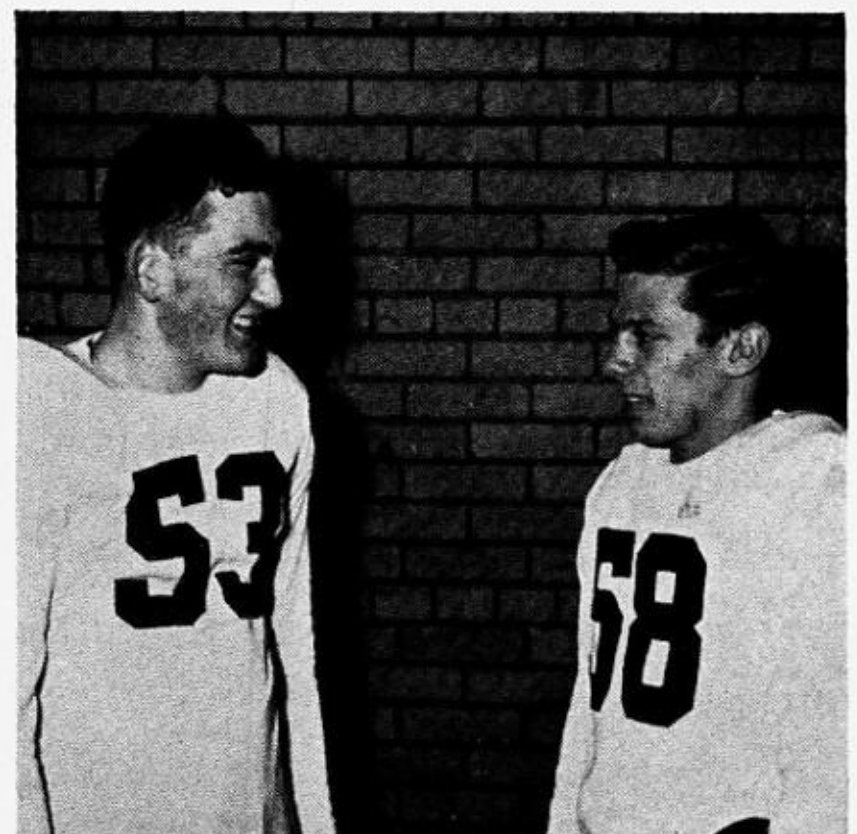

EDWARD P. WENTZ

Leading the Saints in their 1946 football season were Chuck Lenz and Sam Colando. They were elected by the team preceding the Mooseheart game and from then on the Saints played like a different ball club. It seemed that these two boys gave the team the "shot in the arm" which was needed. The coaching staff, the football team, and the entire student body salute Chuck and Sam for a job well done.

For twenty-three years, Saint Vincent's has been fortunate in the generous service of Coach Eddie Wentz, dean of Akron coaches. He is respected not only by his friends at Saint Vincent's, but also by the entire state for his ability to instill into his teams the true ideals of Christian manhood. The genial coach is a second father to many boys who ask his advice, seek his help, and receive assurances in their problems. He has turned out championship teams in both football and basketball. When Coach Wentz came here, the school's athletic program was weak. The Irish today are considered formidable opponents throughout the state. Our teams, win or lose, possess an abundance of that spirit of fair play and sportsmanship which can be generated in them only by the leadership of a competent coach.

The Players' Prayer

Dear Mother Mary

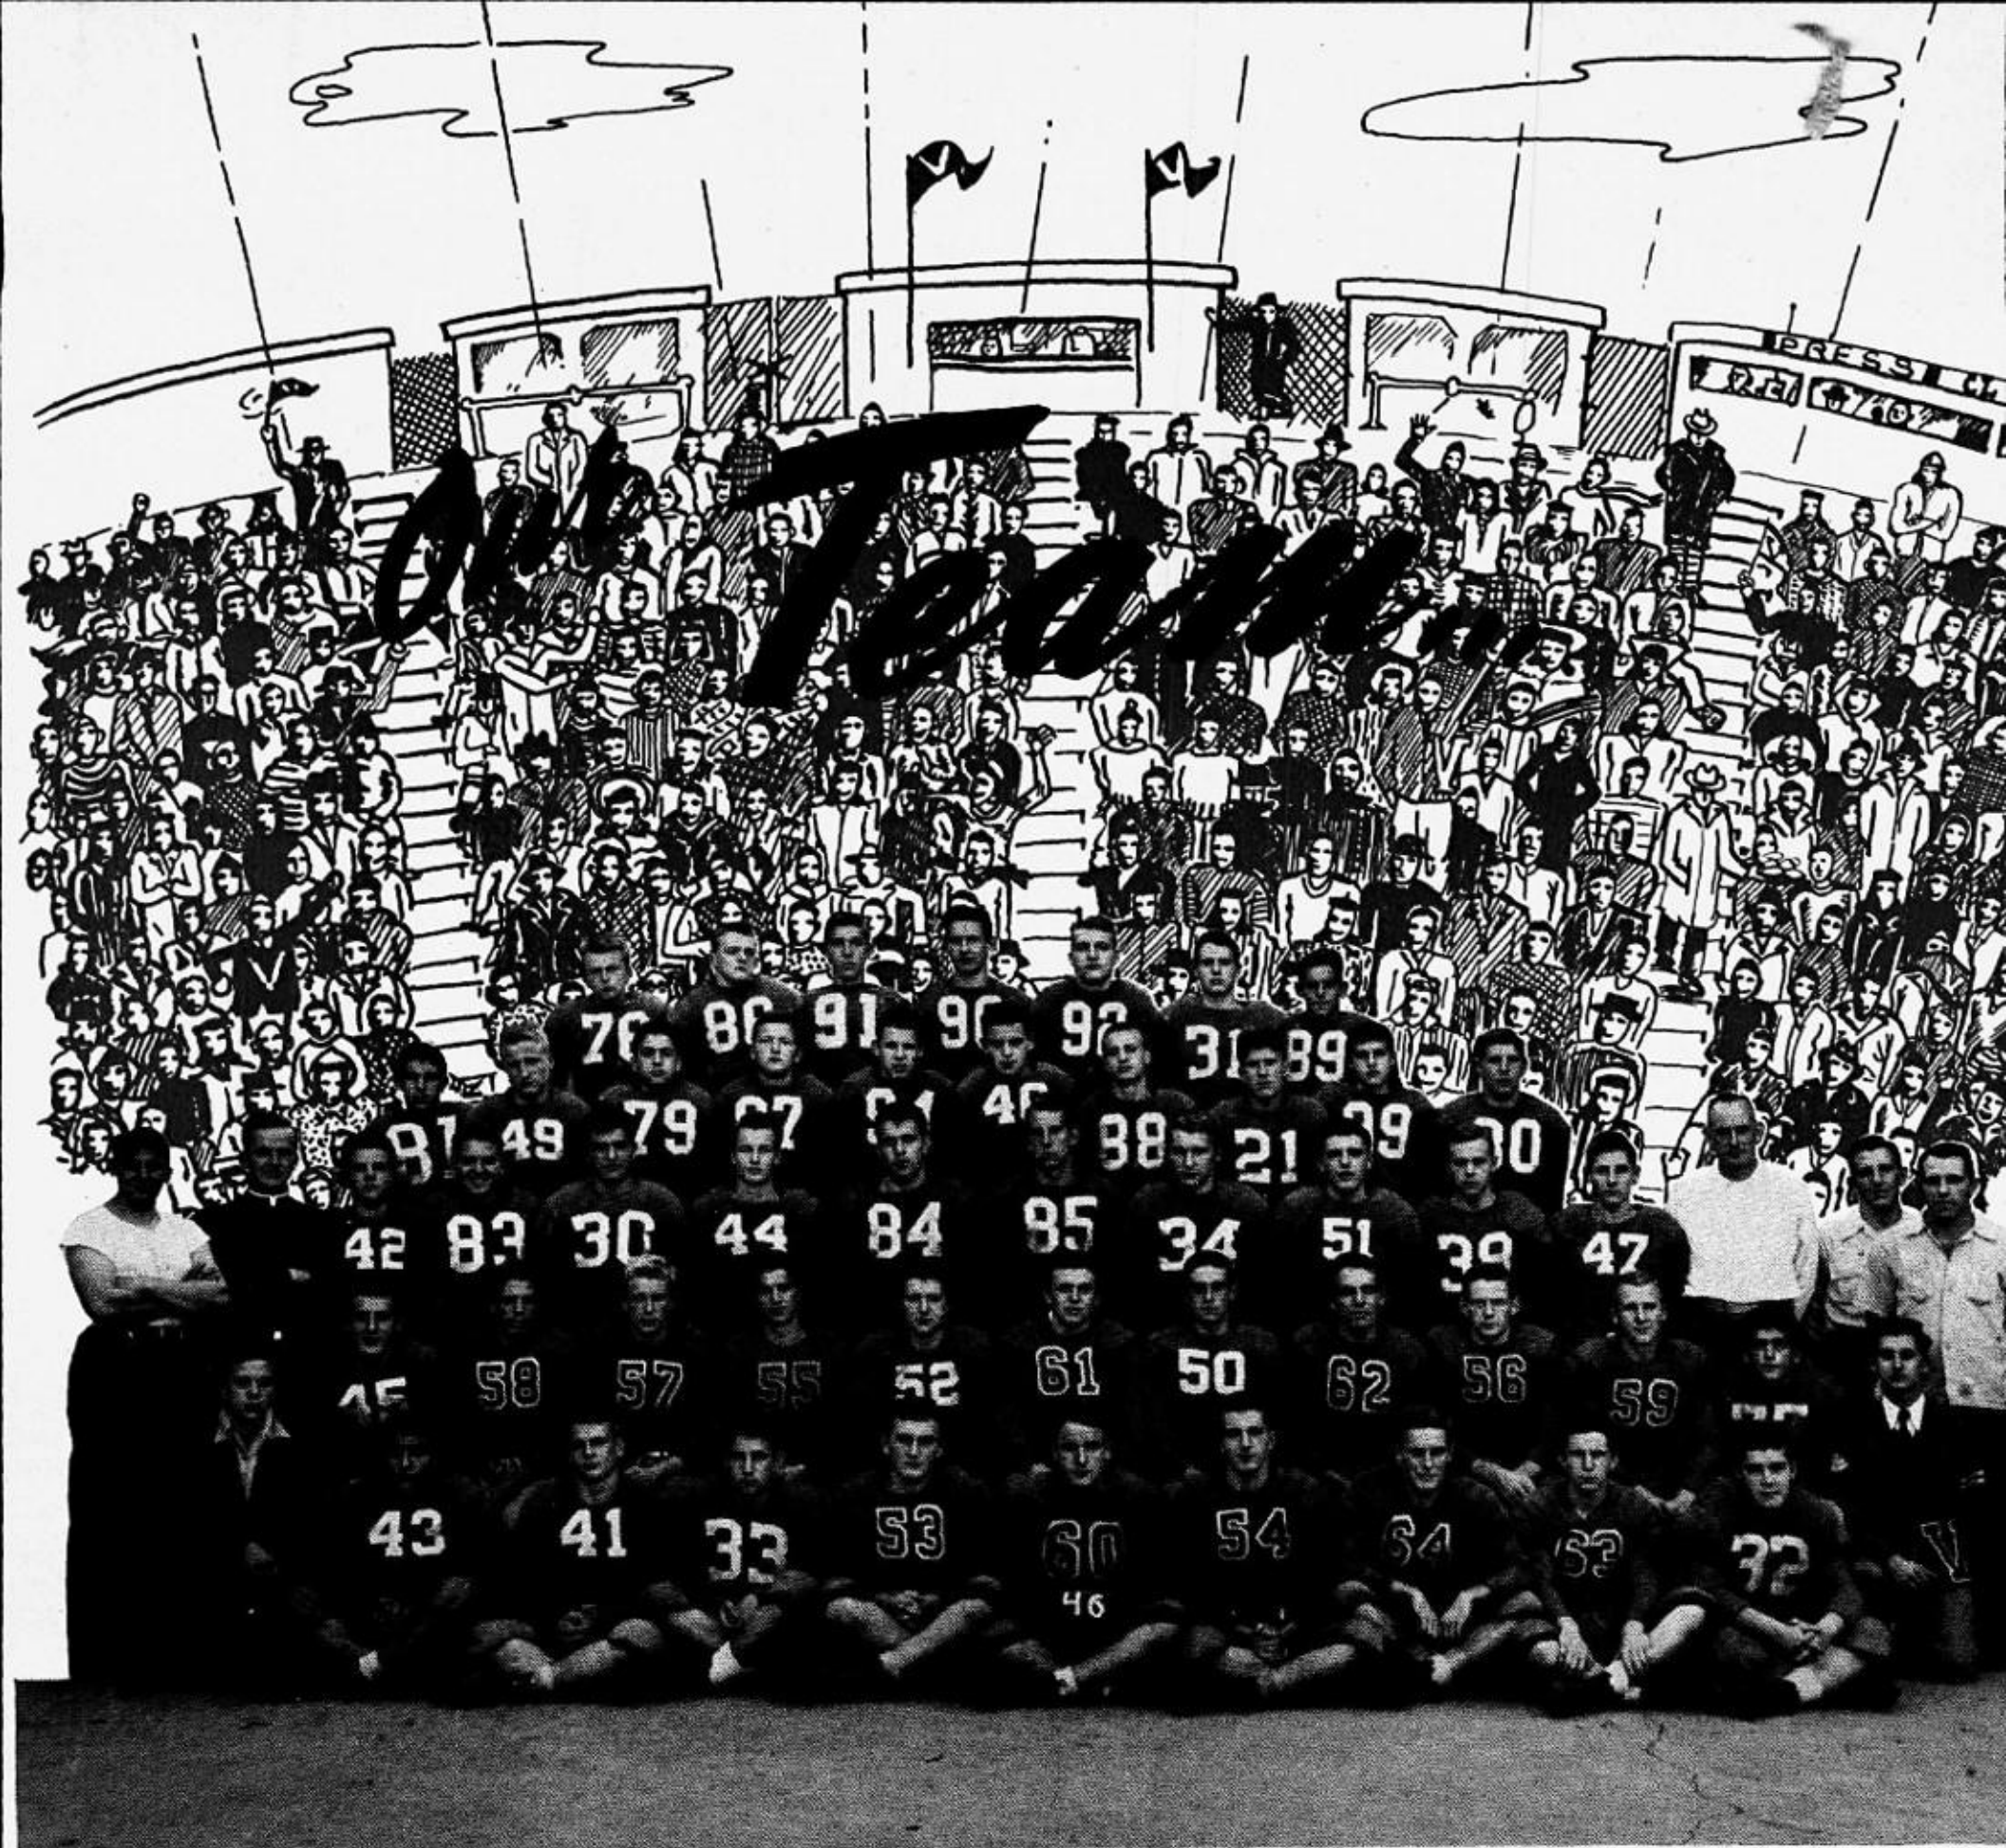

If it is the will of your Divine Son that we win the game we are about to play, help us to win in such a way as to be proud of our victory, and regard it as a tribute to your love and guidance. If we lose, let us lose as valiantly as we would win.

Since our Lord can refuse you nothing, we ask you to make our prayer yours — a prayer of confidence and love. Dear Mother, give us victory. Amen.

KENMORE 0-6

A band of highly favored St. V. grid-ers ran headlong into a potent group of Kenmore Cardinals and absorbed a 6-0 defeat. Kenmore turned back numerous Irish threats in the first half and then capitalized on their only break to score early in the fourth quarter. The play of Jay Dunphy was outstanding as the big Irish fullback knocked off several gains through the Cardinal line. The lack of a smooth running attack cost the Irish the opening game victory.

EAST 12-6

Rebounding from their surprising opening game defeat, the Irish showed a complete reversal of form as they outlasted the East Orientals 12-6. The Saints were first to break the ice as Jay Dunphy drove over for the score. East came right back and scored in just nine plays. Locked 6-6, the two teams battled on even terms until early in the fourth quarter when Chuck Lenz broke through and blocked Bob Wallace's punt and Andy Haas fell on the ball in the end zone.

BARBERTON 0-12

September 27 found the Irish up against the mighty Barberton Magics. Plagued by an acute case of fumble-itis, the Irish gave away the second game of the season 12-0. A fumble early in the second period produced the Magics' first score. The Barbertonians took possession deep in Irish territory and scored in three plays. The Saints elected to receive in the second half. This decision proved to be costly as Jay Dunphy fumbled the kick-off and Bob Toneoff recovered on the Irish 10-yard line. Powered by Myron Sellers, the Magics scored but missed the extra point. The Irish found themselves but were only able to penetrate as far as the Barberton 20.

RAVENNA 0-20

The Saints made their 1946 Western Reserve League debut at the Ravenna Stadium with the express idea of taking a measure of revenge for last year's stunning defeat. The game was doped to be a breeze for the Irish, but the Ravens couldn't see it that way. Playing in a continual downpour, the Saints never proved a factor as the Ravens romped to a 20-0 victory. Ravenna scored almost at will after the first touchdown early in the second quarter. Saint V. wasn't able to cope with the fast-charging Ravenna line. The play of Johnny Cipriano and Bob Mattison was a painful thorn in the side of the Irish. The play of Sam Co'ando was the only weapon held by the Saints throughout the game.

Lake School History

MOOSEHEART

12-13

Forgetting their past record, the Irish were primed for the Columbus Day battle with the Mooseheart, Illinois, Red Ramblers. Mooseheart scored in the second period and retained the lead until early in the third quarter when Sammy Colando dashed 43 yards to tie the score. When next they gained possession of the ball, the Irish scored on a pass from Chuck Maurer to Jim Huscroft.

The Ramblers roared back the length of the field to tie the score and then go ahead on Bill Sargent's conversion 13-12. Determined not to lose another game, the stout-hearted "Fighting Irish" took the kickoff and drove to the Mooseheart 5-yard line. A fumble lost the ball to Mooseheart. Before the Irish were able to get their hands on the ball, the time ran out. Saint V. had played hard and had lost a heart-breaker.

FALLS 6-6

Failing on the attempted extra point, Saint V. had to be content with a 6-6 tie. The Irish outdid the Tigers in every department but scoring, gaining their only marker late in the second quarter on a pass, Chuck Maurer to Sam Colando. During the second half, the Saints threatened many times but were unable to score.

CENTRAL 24-6

Completely dominating play throughout the entire game, the Irish were never threatened, as they took triumph No. 2, 24-6. Sam Colando scored two touchdowns, Jay Dunphy one, and Wilbur Hill one on an intercepted pass. The Wildcats, minus the services of their star, Jack Craig, were completely overpowered by a team that looked at last as if it had found itself.

SOUTH 13-6

Making it two in a row, the Irish took a 13-6 decision from the South Cavaliers. The teams were deadlocked 6-6 when late in the final quarter, Jim Huscroft flipped a 25-yard aerial to Sam Colando in the end zone. Dave McMullen added the extra point from placement, the first extra point the Saints had made all year.

KENT-ROOSEVELT, 6-6

A blocked kick late in the game gave the Saints a 6-6 tie with once-beaten Kent Roosevelt. The kick was blocked by Bill McGrath, and Wilbur Hill picked up the pigskin and darted 20 yards for the tying point. This game gave the Irish a record of three wins, four losses, and two ties. It also marked the completion of the twenty-third year of service for our coach, Edward P. Wentz.

GOAL LINE STAND

Irish Hoopsters Uphold Our Athletic Traditions

The strains of "On To Victory" were fading from the gridiron when Coach E. P. Wentz issued the call that inaugurated his twenty-third year as Irish basketball mentor. Last year, he coached the greatest team in his career and almost won the state championship. Could he do it again? The only veteran remaining of this great aggregation was Sam Colando. The Saints opened the schedule with a game against the Wildcats of Cleveland St. Ignatius, rallying to win in the last quarter. The Cavaliers of South High, defending city champions, looked a cinch to repeat as they drubbed the Wentzmen by 14 points. Opening their defense of the Western Reserve League Championship, the Irish again hit their stride as push-shot artist, Jimmy Harris, hit for 23 points to lead his teammates to their second win.

The following month was one that Coach Wentz, his team, and the student body don't care to talk about. It all began on Friday, 13th. It was the 17th of January before the Irish finally broke the jinx and beat the highly-favored West Cowboys, 43-40. In the Northeastern Ohio Tournament, the Saints ousted Coventry before dropping a 51-31 contest to the Garfield Presidents. Thus ended a season that found the Saints winning 7 of 20 games. Much credit is to be given to Sam Colando who was second highest scorer in the city. Sam was Saint Vincent's only representative on the Akron Beacon Journal All-City team, making the second consecutive season that this honor was bestowed on the diminutive Irish forward. In addition, Sammy has merited All-Western Reserve basketball recognition.

Physical Fitness and Fair Play Characterize the American Girl

Girls' sports have become traditional in modern schools in this year of 1947. In grand-ma's day, it was considered too strenuous and very unladylike for a girl to engage in the healthful pursuit of athletics. At Saint Vincent's, a girl has every opportunity of participating in the sports which most appeal to her. Gym is a required subject and incidentally helps to keep the figure in trim. The activities of this year's field of sports cover a wide area, including kickball, basketball, deck tennis, and volleyball. During the regular classes, marching, folk and modern dancing, calisthenics and tumbling are taught. Entering into sports makes not only a healthier girl, but also a happier one too, because it teaches her fair play and good sportsmanship, two characteristics which will be invaluable to her in later life.

WORKING OFF THAT EXTRA POUND

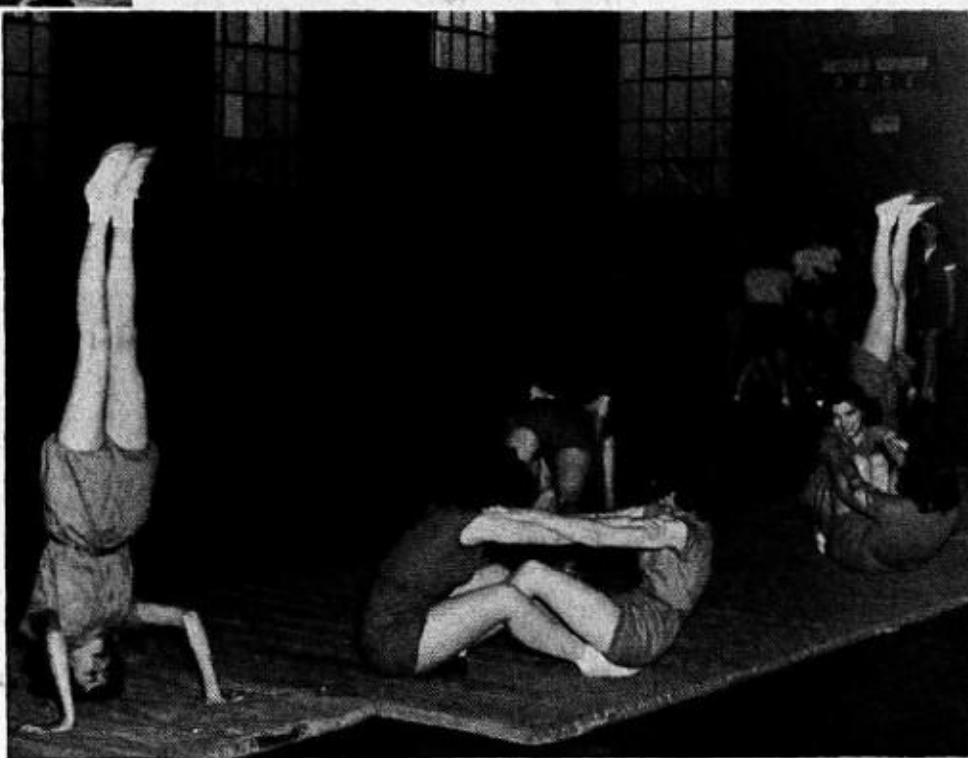

Exercising Can Be Fun!

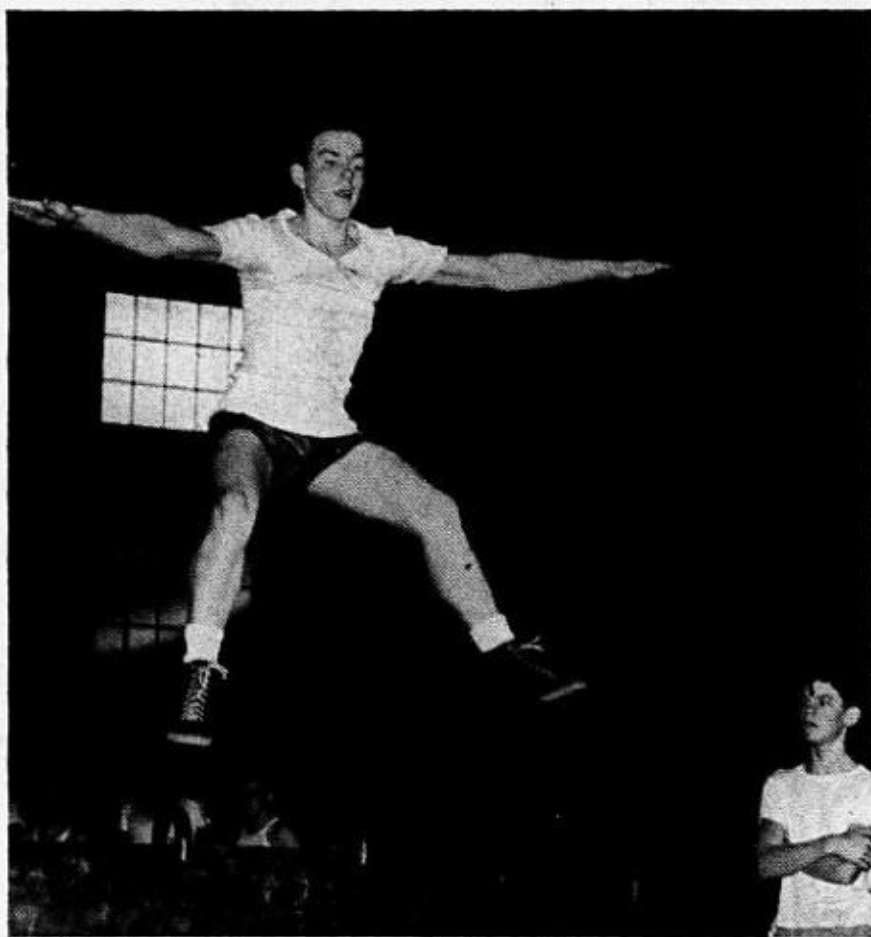

Are you feeling low? Not if you take gym! Mrs. Stewart keeps her classes in high spirits. They perform such outstanding feats as standing on their heads. Rita Patrick, Margaret DiLauro, Antoinette Pedone, Louise DeVitis, Ann Ley, and Margot Lanphier are tumblers. Pat Rohner, Mary Ellen Delagrang, Helen Bachman, and Frances Welsh use energy to hit the ball across the net.

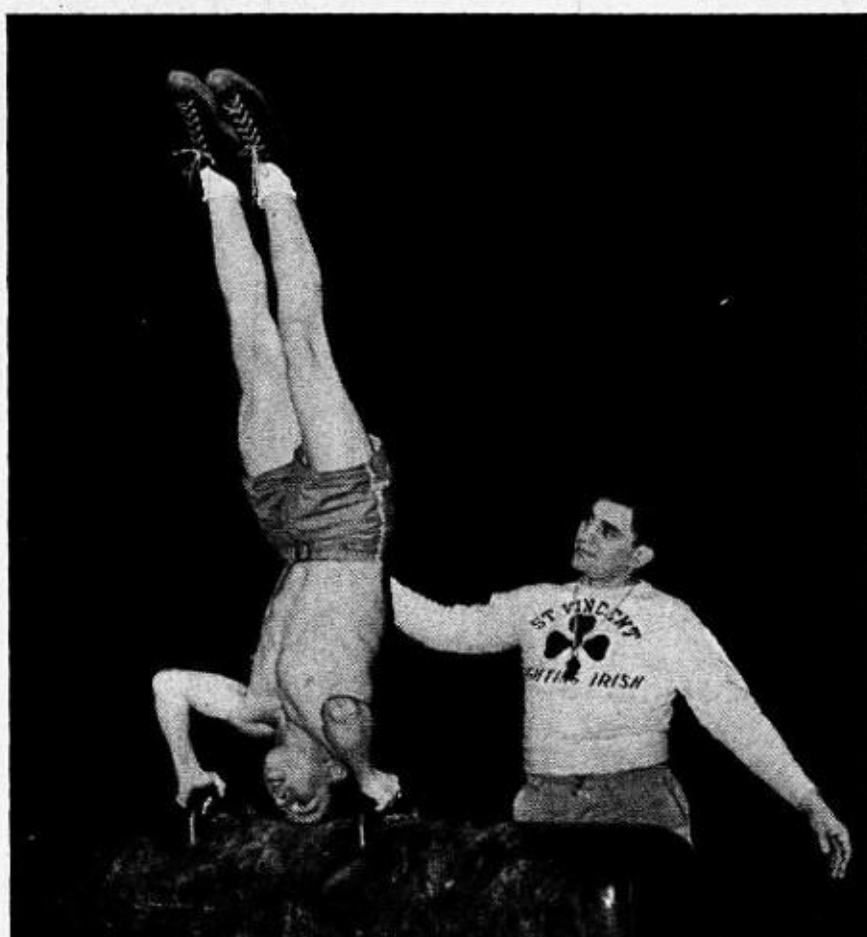

Do this one hour every day, and watch the waist-line melt away! This is what we all do, not well perhaps, but with enthusiasm, for after all it's the results that count (or do not count) when we step on the scale. Games are planned to build muscle and morale, and to make reductions where they are most needed. Try it! It's really fun!

Healthy Bodies Harbor Healthy Minds

Grunts and groans are the order of the day when Mr. Malagio puts the gym classes through their paces. Bodies hurtle through the air! Note the exuberant leap executed by Leo Vielhaber. He mastered this feat by daily practice — leaving his desk at the 3:15 bell. The junior boys build a pyramid while Bob McGurr stands by (on his head) getting a new perspective on the whole situation. Calisthenics comprise an essential in Mr. Malagio's physical education program for freshies. He envisions them as bruising tackles of the future. The reward for participating in these gymnastics is not in credits, but in health, which is an invaluable asset.

WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE

THE BOTTOM ROW BLUES

Prepping for the big game of the season against the Mooseheart Red Ramblers, the student body exercises lung power, shaking the school foundations with a lusty "COME ON SAINT VINCENT! BEAT MOOSEHEART!" Rev. Father Gonder and the coaching staff are guests of honor.

Boosters Encourage Athletic Endeavors

Mr. Charles H. Fletcher, Treasurer of Saint Vincent Booster Club is giving a check to Charles Maurer, veteran gridder and basketball manager. This typifies the helpfulness of the Boosters who were organized in August of 1945 to sponsor and encourage school activities.

Many of its members are fathers of boys who take active part in the athletics of our school. The goal which the Boosters have set as their objective is the purchase of a football field where Irish home games will be played. Until then, Old Forge will be our stamping ground.

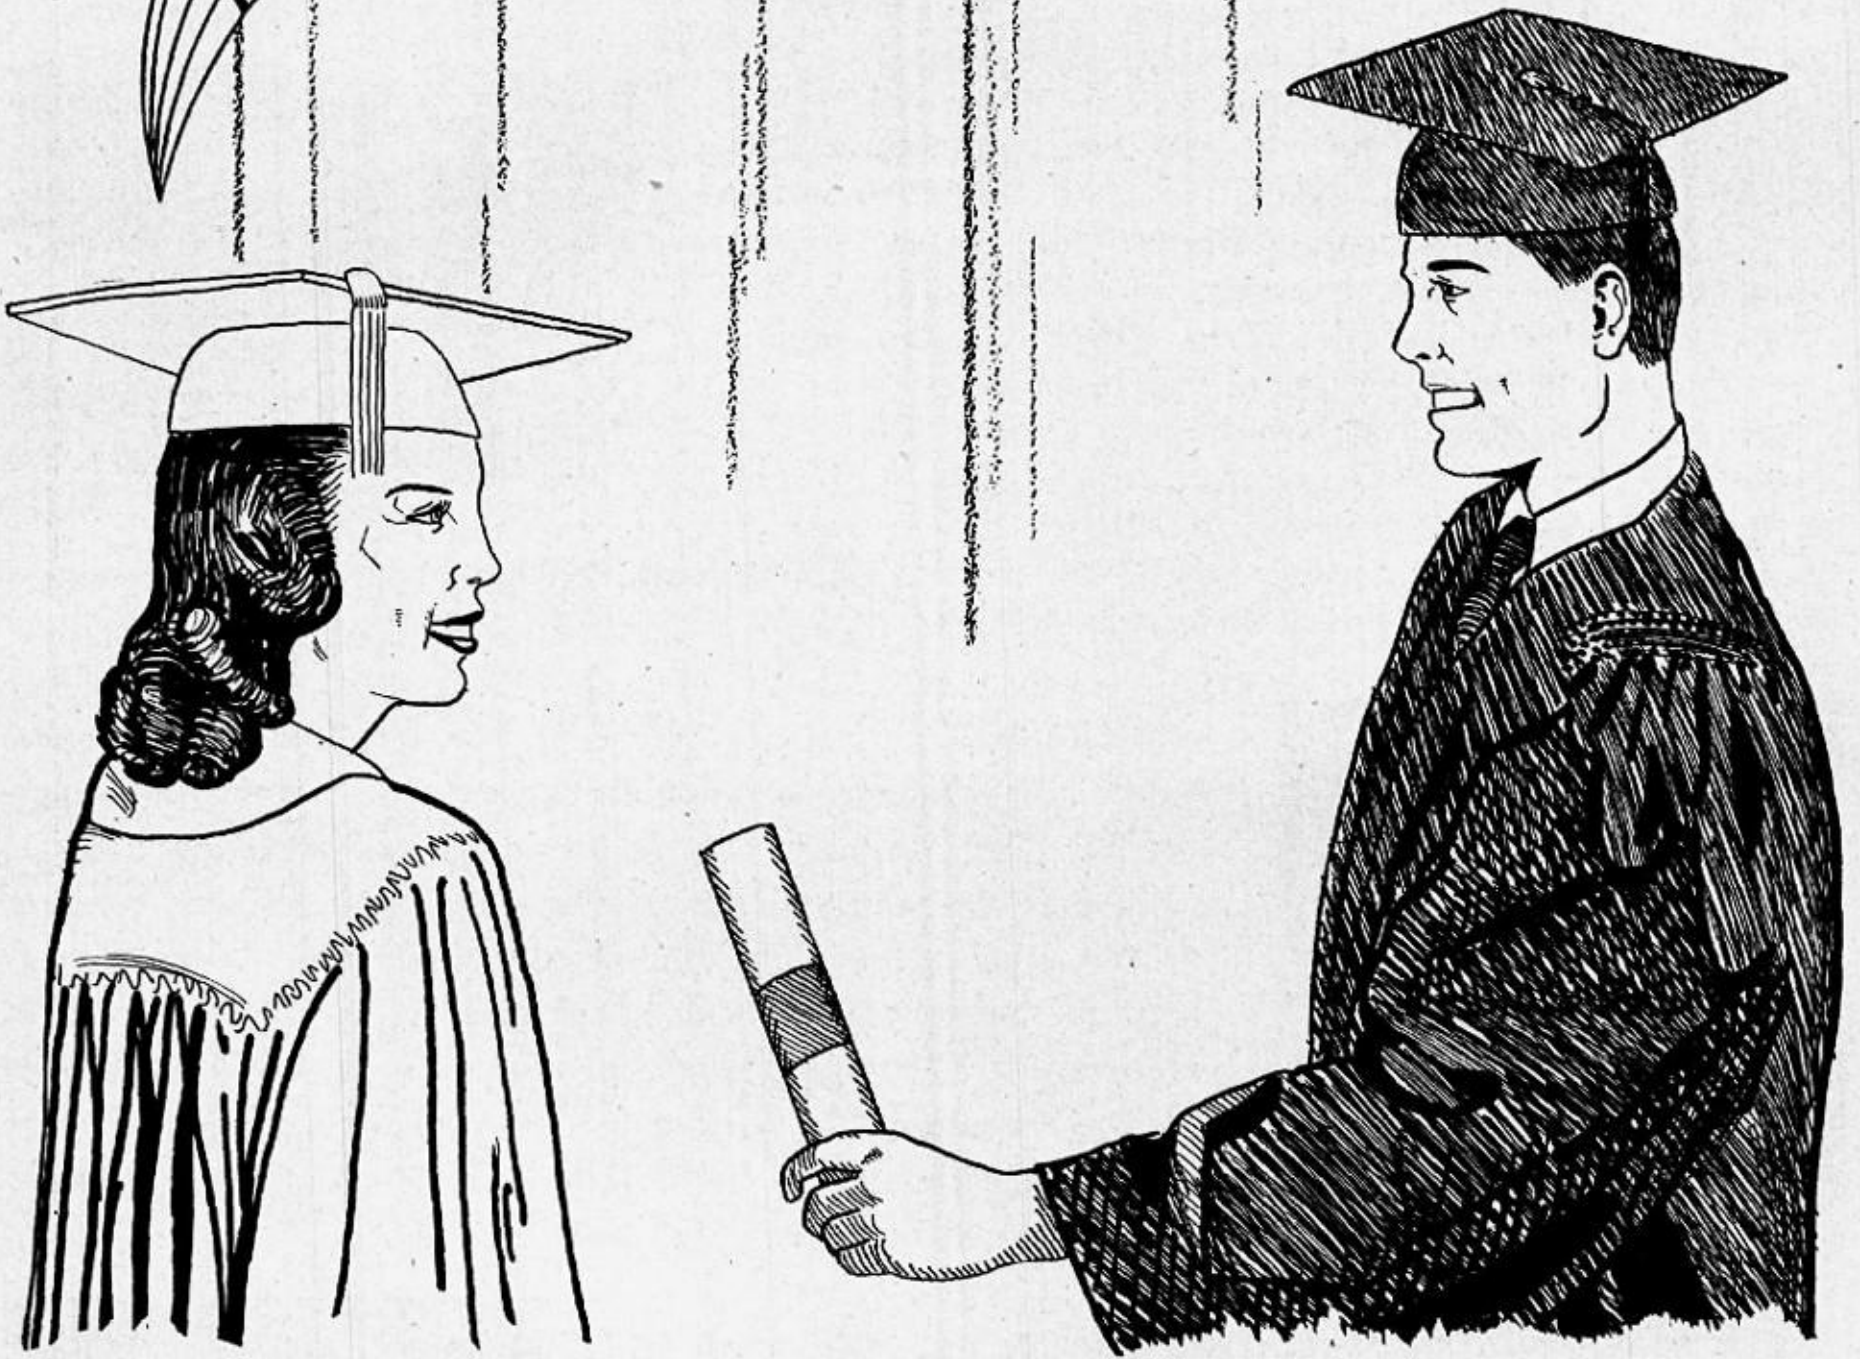

James Harris and Charles Maurer, St. V. team representatives; Mr. Edward A. Fassnacht, Committee Chairman; Mr. Charles J. Maurer, Sr., Vice President; Mr. Charles H. Fletcher, Treasurer; and Mr. Benjamin F. Donahue, President.

CLASSES

Our Classes

SENIORS! The day that we received our class rings, presented to us by Father Conry, marked the beginning of our final year. Our team led us through a spirited football and basketball season. For us, it was our last, and never-to-be-forgotten season. At the football dance, we crowned our queen. At the Christmas formal, we danced around the tree for the last time as undergraduates. At the Prom, we said farewell to our younger classmates. Then came the trading of pictures and name cards as a lasting remembrance of our friends. June meant the fun of the class picnic, the class breakfast, and graduation. That intangible something, commonly referred to as Saint Vincent spirit, is strong within us as we stand now on the brink of new endeavors, looking wistfully back toward old familiar ways before entering into that mysterious but thrilling unknown—the future! The senior year was a full year, intense with purposeful activity; a hard year, challenging us with responsibilities and problems to solve; and a happy year to be cherished always in memory.

JUNIORS worked hard this year, too! So hard, in fact, that it was necessary now and then to relax and play because after all "All work and no play makes Junior a dull boy!" The first snow of the year came very late (like Bernard Alleman) and the Junior boys (not so grown up or dignified as the SENIORS) had to revel in it after First Friday Mass. They're up and coming, these Juniors! It isn't every class that has that much energy before breakfast! Work? Of course they worked! Carol Culbertson and Patricia Offret accompanied the seniors to Milwaukee for the N. S. P. A. Convention to prepare for their work on the yearbook. Doris Gibson ably carried out the task of arranging the junior pages in the Shamrock. Plans for the Prom were gotten under way, too.

SOPHOMORES just another class? No, sir! Didn't they spend many nights writing to Catholic authors for pictures and autographs? Pat Masturzo has the distinction of receiving a letter from the Pope through the Washington Papal delegate, praising the undertaking of Saint Vincent sophomores and bestowing his apostolic blessing upon them. Honors also go to the girls. Marion Herro cornered prospective patrons everywhere and brought in fees for the "Shamrock" by the dozens. The sophomores hope for great things in days to come—more field trips like the one to the Cleveland Art Museum (open today—free) and more dissections like the one performed on an embalmed cat.

FRESHMEN get a good work-out! Nothing can build up spirit and change green freshies into mellow Vincentians like a good-sized dose of school service. This, incidentally, covers a multitude of things! Take, for example, the question of chairs! They have to be moved here, there, and everywhere. Result—muscles and school spirit! The floor must be swept after lunch. Result—clean floor, more muscle, and more school spirit.

Sophomore boys are interested in photography. Three "Eds" — Ed Fassnacht, Ed Reymann, and Ed Metzger — formed a committee and planned a contest to encourage competition among student photographers. The spirit was so contagious that the whole student body caught it. A series of lectures accompanied by lantern slides was presented in answer to a demand for more practical knowledge of photography. The boys are preparing now to enter the National High School Photography contest.

Help at last for all confused freshies! Sophomore girls are working on a freshman handbook named "The Key to Saint Vincent," guaranteed to introduce every newcomer to school activities and the real Saint Vincent spirit—that spirit which makes us freeze at football games, roast at basketball games, dream of holiday balls, and—oh, yes, do our homework! It will explain where, when, and with whom. Watch for it in September!

CHERISHED MEMORIES

SEPTEMBER

Gulping freshies report at nine o'clock on September 4th, to get acquainted with new stamping grounds. Sophs, juniors, and wornout seniors swarm through the old familiar halls the next day. Six hundred forty-six boys and girls, a record-breaking enrollment, gather to hear Mass and receive Holy Communion on the initial First Friday of the school year. Sweet-sounding Glee Club welcomes new members and elects officers. Swelled with a sense of their exalted importance, seniors formally elect class officers.

OCTOBER

Glee Club, band, and majorettes receive a treat better than an all-day sucker when they attend an afternoon performance of the United States Marine Band. Super-exclusive National Honor Society members greet one another for the first time and elect officers. Ed Wood becomes president. Co-editors are chosen for "The Shamrock," and supporting staffs are selected. Father Conry presents seniors with class rings in a quiet private ceremony, thus establishing a new tradition for future graduating classes. Juniors take over the Mooseheart Cheer Rally and present a highly original Irish program. The new "Alma Mater" (composed by two anonymous senior girls) is sung for the first time by the entire student body. The long-heralded Mooseheart game comes. The boys play beautifully, but just don't quite make it. Final score, 12-13. The new Home Ec lab and senior girls in the guise of Future Homemakers of America, get together for the first time. Menu? A cover-dish supper. A very important organization, the Drama Guild, holds its first meeting and elects new leaders. The National Honor Society sponsors our second annual Friendship Day. A spirit of friendly relaxation reigns for a few hours. The French Club joins the ranks of active organizations again, and "joy reigns supreme" as our boys come to the fore, crushing a mighty Central opponent, 24-6. O.B.E. gathers our future business women together for a meeting. Our first purely social get-together takes place in the form of the annual Hallowe'en Hop. Second Victory in a row! We surprise South (and ourselves) to the tune of 13-6. Free day!

NOVEMBER

Kent Roosevelt battles just as hard as we do. Decision? A draw, 6-6. The "Shamrock" staff presents a yearbook rally and the Te Deum Choir and Girls' Glee Club sing. Newly-elected senior officers conduct the first class meeting. The National Honor Society sponsors a drive for books to be sent to the Philippines. The World Culture class does something new—a visit to the Cleveland Museum of Art. The Library Reading Club marks the passing of National Book Week with a drive to sell books to be donated to the library. They present a good program! The Chem Phy Club attends the National Aircraft Show at the Cleveland Municipal Airport. Homecoming Dance for the football team is a gala affair over which Queen Winnie McGrath reigns. Father Osborne awards gold footballs to Jay Dunphy and Chuck Lenz, who were selected by their team mates as the squad's most valuable players. The sociology class presents a panel discussion on city zoning and housing. The Drama Guild's first production, a murder comedy "Who Murdered Who" is missed by year book representatives who embark for Milwaukee and the National Scholastic Press Association convention.

DECEMBER

John Haffert, noted lecturer on Our Lady of Fatima, stirs students with his impressive message. Enthusiastic audience takes a sneak-peek into the forbidden recesses of the locker room, as senior boys present a side-splitting cheer practice. Wilbur Hill impersonates Coach. The National Honor Society sponsors a contest for an original school flag design. Larry Marzulli, junior, captures first place. Junior boys give out with some "solid" if screechy music in the mood of Spike Jones at their thoroughly enjoyable cheer practice. Students "gather round" to watch the boys bring in the Christmas tree, largest that we've ever had. Long-awaited Vincentian appears for the last issue of 1946. Big day! Drama Guild presents an annual Christmas play, "Fiat Lux" which turns out to be a dramatic triumph for Ben Coyle. Barberton High Magics visit our court in a battle resulting in a final score of 43-32, their favor. Sister Bernice wishes us holiday joy as school is dismissed for

1946 - - 1947

Christmas vacation. Glee Club scores a musical triumph on Christmas Day in their successful radio broadcast over WAKR. Our "White Christmas" formal is a grand success as the high point of the holiday season. Denny Thompson provides the music, and the senior class supplies the decorations. Tom Moffitt, Wilfred Robb, and Arthur Cole cut short their vacation by offering to re-do the paint job in school lavatories.

JANUARY

Classes resume, and life moves on as ever. Cheers echo again and again as we outscore our arch-rival, West, 43-40. Four senior girls travel to Cleveland for the Notre Dame scholarship tests, and six senior boys declare, "It was inhuman!" after a gruelling four-hour Navy Scholarship test. The Spanish Club enjoys a definite triumph in their presentation of a Pan-American Musicales. Mid-term exams! The less said the better! Our luck may not be good, but our spirit remains unchanged as we go down before Massillon, 73-51. We trounce Cuyahoga Falls in a thrilling game which culminates in a 45-31 score.

FEBRUARY

Saint Vincent versus Central. Result—34 to 29, our triumph. F.H.A. conducts a delicious cookie and cake sale. "Yes, senior girls did the baking; no, we don't sell bicarbonate of soda!" The sophomore boys sponsor a school-wide photography contest. We play a thrilling overtime game with Ravenna. Luck is with us as far as 37-34. Word comes that Marie Falardeau and Pat Jones have won high places in the Notre Dame test. Tom Moffitt, Ed Wood, Harry Englehart, John Savoy, and Jack Devany passed the Navy Test. We unhappily succumb to Barberton, 60-46. F.H.A. exhibits model houses over which they have slaved for many weeks. We pull out our halos as the end of the grading period is in sight.

MARCH

World History and Latin classes present a thoroughly enjoyable play and a classical exhibit.

Vincentian is again welcomed with open arms. The American Scene classes present an exhibit over which they have spent many hours of hard labor. The High School retires from active life for a few days of silent, contemplative retreat, conducted by Monsignor Francis P. Johns.

APRIL

"Happy days are here again!" It's Easter vacation time. A rare occurrence at Saint V.—An Easter dance. School resumes and the English Lit classes hold an exhibit. The Pan-American Club has its assembly, and much sought-after pins are awarded. The Biology Exhibit as usual is super. The Glee Club and Band do something new—a concert for the school. Boo! Hoo! Report cards!

MAY

English Lit classes present a program for the High School. Forty Hours Devotion begins. Freshie Home Room 303 displays the fruit of much labor in the guise of travel diaries, before the school body. A glamour get-up style show is sponsored by the F.H.A., and also an entertainment for fond parents at a Mothers' Day party. "Hearts and Flowers" are the style for our big dress-up party, the Junior Prom. Ascension Thursday and a free day! Sophomore boys show off their Catholic Action project. The last issue of the Vincentian makes its appearance. Much-coveted Quill and Scroll awards are presented to fortunate few. Seniors realize that the end is in sight as their exams begin. Drama Guild goes into operation for the last time in honor of Memorial Day.

JUNE

Underclassmen walk the last mile of tests. The big day finally arrives when the 1947 "Shamrock"—fresh from the printer—makes its official appearance. Seniors feel the pangs of parting as they don caps and gowns to receive diplomas. We say a prayer of thanks for the benefits and opportunities of our Christian education at Saint Vincent, and implore our Blessed Mother to guide us always on our journey through life.
